

Daily Eagle

M. M. MURDOCK, Editor.
SUNDAY MORNING, MARCH 21.

The Kiowa Journal says that Lovejoy & Glascock, of that city, have paid the Southern Kansas railroad, since August 10th, for freight, an amount of thirty thousand dollars.

Emporia has gone daft, or her pryers have. Such an array of startling head-line booms never greeted the head-footed denizens of the Neosho bottoms since the day when the Al-mighty sent the bounds to her flint hills.

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat of Wednesday, says: "It is a significant fact that about one-fourth of the employees of the Missouri Pacific are the actual strikers along the system, and that nearly twice the number are idle because of suspension. The actual strike total number of employees of the Missouri Pacific has amounted to 14,315 men. Of this number 3,717 are out on the strike, 6,495 have been suspended in consequence of the stoppage of business, and 4,093 are yet drawing pay from the company."

KANSAS CITY FEEDERS.

For years the vast and continually increasing products of Kansas were poured into the lap of Kansas City, uncollected and without expense to that town. Wichita, in the course of time becoming tired of having her legs all gnawed as "piggy," her heaves as "stagnant," and her millions of grain shipments mixed in the Kansas City elevators with lower grades, went to work and got in a couple of railways independent of Kansas City. Since that time Kansas City has resorted to "tidy," so far as Kansas is concerned, and "blow" as to her own business status. But these not working satisfactorily the Wind-Weaver is now talking of building feeders into Kansas. It is the same Paoli link for a while. Now it is a scheme known as the Kansas City, Wyandotte and Northwestern, running to Beatrice, Nebraska, and intended to steal the trade of the territory naturally tributary to Leavenworth, Atchison, Lawrence and Topeka. In the mean time Kansas City's trade and real estate are in a terrible strain. As the Eagle has all along maintained, Kansas City will witness ere long a tumble in her real estate, and then good bye, Wind-Weaver, good bye, Phil Armour, and all the other fictitious foundations upon which that town has been built.

A BRANCH OF THE SANTA FE ROAD.

A contract was signed day before yesterday by the A., T. & S. F. Railroad company with Barney Lantry, of Strong City, Chase county, to build twenty-eight miles of railroad from Elvira, in Chase county, via Bazona and Marfield Green, to El Dorado, Butler county. This road will be the main line of the Santa Fe five miles east of Strong City, and runs up the south fork of the Cottonwood river two and a half or three miles east of Cottonwood Falls.

KIOWA COUNTY.

C. W. Olmstead, of Greensburg, Kiowa county, census taker, made the following report yesterday to Governor Martin: Inhabitants, 2,791; 449 households; $236,562 taxable property. Filling all the requirements of the new law, Kiowa is eligible to join the sisterhood of counties of Kansas, and Kiowa county is bound to be one of the richest counties of Western Kansas, possessing the necessary prerequisites of a rich soil and favorable location.

IF GOVERNOR MARTIN SHOULD DECLINE.

"The hand writing on the wall." It seems to be the universal belief of all his fellow quill-drivers that Marsh Murdock, of Wichita, shall lead the Republican host in the next gubernatorial campaign. The Kiowa Journal is sold for him with both feet. With his Eagle he has done more towards the development and enlightenment of Kansas than any other editor living in the state. He has made a good federal officer and will surely make an excellent governor. Wichita owes greatly to his services to him, and hundreds of young and growing cities have been encouraged and advertised by a generous use of his paper, and none of them will forget the favor. While politics have been almost completely barred in Kiowa, we feel sure that the next time that no man could be nominated that would begin to poll the vote in this town and county that he would—New Kiowa Journal.

If Governor Martin could be persuaded to decline and the Journal's rule for Kiowa should hold good throughout the state, that is, if there was to be no politics in the race, but Democrats and Republicans alike were to vote solid for us, why—then we would be pretty hard to beat, that's a fact.

We submit the following resolution, passed by a post of Union soldiers at Adel, Iowa, for the benefit of the old veterans who voted for Grover Cleveland. It needs no comment added to it. It tells all that it desires to express, and in a very telling way:

WHEREAS, The people of the United States have by their votes declared that the country is safer in the hands of men who sought to destroy it than under the control of those who sought to save it.

WHEREAS, The victory of treason over loyalty is being illustrated and commemorated by the exhibition under the very shadow of the national capitol a panoramic view of the battle of Bull Run;

WHEREAS, We believe it to be due the gallant warriors of the South that all their victories should be transmitted to posterity in glowing colors on enduring canvas.

Resolved, By Colonel Mills Post G. A. R., department of Iowa, that our representative in congress be requested to use his best endeavors to secure an appropriation of $50,000, to be expended in procuring the execution of a painting of the great Confederate battle of Andersonville, and a further appropriation of $50,000 for the purpose of erecting a suitable building as near as possible to the capitol where said painting may be kept on exhibition.

For the Eagle. LIFE.

"To not walk through changeable years,
To eat and drink to waste and sleep,
To plod through labor's dull routine
In calm despair or patience mute;
To not in those that life is shown
In all its meaning, deep and grand,
But as tho' its cords were touched
By some poor, weak, unskilled hand.
The laugh of mirth that fills the heart;
The tears that freshen deserts dry;
The far-off memory of youth,
The thought that brings the future nigh;
The struggles with the hosts of wrong;
The clinging to the good and true;
Those who stand the cords of life,
And thrill the heart-strings thro' and thro'.

COLWICH STARTLED.

The hammer never ceases to sound from daylight till dark, and its mighty execution would not to shame the propelling force which raised that famous mound over the prophet Jonah.

"We will, and may it be harsh melody have no interruptions.

Our new big hotel will be the pride of this section. The foundation and sills are in, and it will be pushed to rapid completion. This is what have been crying for, as the Colwich hotel and the Dancomb house are overcrowded and all the feed at Smith's restaurant is spoken for.

Mr. Hazen, the banker, of Wichita, came over Thursday to look after his banking interests here, and was surprised at the business which has been done. He thinks there is no town on the Eagle line like Colwich.

Messrs. Swift & Mankoff have moved their stock of hardware into their new store on Colorado avenue, which is much larger and more convenient than the old place. Both of our hardware establishments are doing more business than they anticipated. But why should that be? Didn't everyone for ten miles around come to Colwich to trade?

The demand for town lots increases every day, and Mr. Stearns, agent for the town company, sold a great many lots this week. V. E. Breese's addition is also having quite a boom, and that gentleman is filled with the genuine real estate exuberance.

Mr. Wiley's car load of hogs are still waiting meek-faced and patient, for permission from the Knights of Labor to pass unmolested to their happy hunting grounds—the Kansas City pork barrels. They can't think of anything they have done that merits such treatment.

Messrs. F. G. Smyth & Sons have got in their stock of farm implements and are ready for business. Mr. Smyth stopped Friday on his way back from a goose hunt, and is enthusiastic on goose and business prospects in Colwich.

The one black spot in our otherwise fair prospects is the school lot, but we are in hopes that the town company, together with the officers of the law, will put the curtailment act on its existence, and lighten up the screws.

The new lively stable being built by J. N. Andrews, is nearly finished, and our Sunday swells may then cease borrowing their neighbors' mules to drive to church.

Postmaster Haskins and President Cleveland have been conspiring together, and as a result we have one new postoffice building almost completed. Well we need it. Hurrah for Uncle Sam. Q. E. D.

HAZELTON.

Howdy, Mr. Eagle. May our relations be pleasant and profitable, and with our old friend, Rip Van Winkle, "may you live long and prosper."

Hazelton is pretty well and progressing nicely this fine weather. I thank you, she is fast becoming noted as a fine stock center, and arrangements have been completed for an extensive show of everything in the horse line here on Saturday, March 27. Everybody, his horse and his wife, is invited, and a general good time is confidently anticipated.

Sep Seville is the happiest man in seven states, and no wonder. With a new house just completed, his wife and family, accompanied by his sister-in-law, arrived on Friday last from Sharon, Pa., and put a period to his lonesome existence of the past winter.

As Sep called "T" on his way home to his wife, he was told by the lady, with his head of feminine loveliness, and shouted to the scribe, "This is the kind of a load to have, Van," we gazed sadly around our bachelor den, kicked over a cigar stub at a mean looking yellow dog on the street, and loved Sep was right.

The Fisher Brothers are building a two-story building, fifty feet front, just west of their bank building, making a store front of 100 feet. They are also building several residences for rent, and improving a number of farms. In short, they are disposing their means in such a way as to greatly help Hazelton and vicinity, and are just such men as we need.

The eighty acres south of town have been purchased for the purpose of holding fairs, and a driving association is being formed, with such men as the Pecks, Frank Smith, H. B. Beck and others, at the head of it. It will surely be a success.

C. M. Cherry, Wichita; Fred N. Dickey, Chicago; J. Samuels and C. W. McNulty, of New Kiowa, stopped with mine host, Vanderholt, at the Peck house, yesterday.

Dr. G. Keiser, of Anthony, lately from a European trip, is here visiting friends and relations.

Camp's Western Advocate may be here this week trying to down the town for a big "ad" in that sheet, and right here we can rise to say that in his judgment and experience this advertising in foreign papers for which unreasonable prices are paid, and which said write-ups generally consist of verbiage, bad grammar and glaring misstatements don't do a town any good with a thinking people.

Every day the white-sailed prairie schooner may be seen plowing victory towards the setting sun.

Brave men and true, and these who live the frontier life, for the making of homes and surely they out to succeed.

W. W. Fair has sold his half section south of town for $5,000, and is going back to Texas. Quite a number of our citizens have the Panhandle fever.

Chas. VanMeter, landlord of the Hazelton Hotel, has a grievance against Lindsey, of the Anthony Republic. On opening his last paper, a big bug bug dropped out, and VanMeter, aggrieved at this bold attempt on the part of an old friend to thus injure his house.

A. M. Betty has opened out a stock of dry goods and clothing in the room formerly occupied by A. M. Clawson. I desire the co-operation of the citizens of Hazelton and vicinity in properly representing their interests in the great daily. Keep me posted in matters of interest. PENDENT.

MEADE COUNTY MATTERS.

The spring boom has touched Meade County. Strangers are coming in rapidly and homesteaders are returning to their old homes.

The mayor advertised to prove up the townsite on April 2nd, and after that date the title to all lots can be perfected. Meade Center is one of the most desirable points in which to locate in the west. It has already a population ahead of Ashland and thousands of dollars worth of property will change hands about April 2nd.

As may be expected, there is a great deal of railroad talk; but it is hoped that the Meade and Neutral Strip railroad will become a realized fact. It is a proposed branch from Dodge City into the counties of Meade and Clark, with Meade Center and Ashland as its prospective termini for the present; this road to be continued into No Man's Land at some future date.

The junction could not be better located than at Fowler City. This town has a fine population of ambitious, intelligent citizens, and is situated in the cream of Meade county's rich agricultural land. It has had a steady improvement, and its forward progress has not been with the uncalculating and disastrous leaps of a young elephant trying to run before he can walk, as exhibited by some other mushroom towns.

That popular institution, the Meade deposit bank, is to be reorganized April 1st as a state bank, with the register of the Garden City land office as one of the stockholders. Another bank is being organized here, with Mr. Wrightman, of Mulvane, as its cashier.

A dance is to be held at the opera house to night in honor of St. Patrick's day. This may give strangers the impression that we have many sons of Erin in our town. The truth is the young people of Meade Center are so fond of dancing that they will find an excuse for celebrating every day in the calendar. They are continually searching the almanac to find an anniversary on which to hold a dance, and if on a national holiday's happen on Sunday they are doubly rejoiced, for it gives them a twofold excuse to make the thing surer by having hoes on the Saturday evening preceding and the Monday following the event they thus desire to honor. However, I am told that some of the finest dances in the state live here. It cannot be doubted if "practice makes perfect."

Investigations are being made here as to the reported illegal holding and entering of land. One party who proved up a timber claim on which were growing some cork oak burs instead of the trees required by law, may find the matter something more serious than a joke; while another individual who filed on several different timber claims under assumed names will wish he had not, with the young man whose $300 worth of improvements consisted of a hole in the ground and three acres of breaking.

An eastern gentleman of enterprise if here investigating the "grangers' line or poor man's plaster," that abounds in this county, and is considered little more than a nuisance. He believes it will be saleable as an article of merchandise. It is unequalled as a substitute for mortar, and makes a very good cheap paint. Its natural tints of greenish drab, pale blue, and a dark, ashen red, could not be expected to be so good as the best.

On the daily Evening "Resident" we have a long and interesting paper in which the author, who is a resident of this county, has made a goodly list of the names of the people of this county, and has given a goodly list of the names of the people of this county, and has given a goodly list of the names of the people of this county.

The twenty-fifth annual meeting of the National Educational association of the United States, will begin at Topeka, July 13, and continue four days. Superintendent Campbell has been requested to make preparations for exhibiting the school work of this city, and the president of the board of education approves of the plan, and a room will be secured for the necessary exhibit. About 10,000 educators will be present, and it is therefore important that this city should make a good showing from her schools. A city is judged to a great extent by the grade of its public schools.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

On the daily Evening "Resident" we have a long and interesting paper in which the author, who is a resident of this county, has made a goodly list of the names of the people of this county, and has given a goodly list of the names of the people of this county.

The search for coal has not yet been rewarded, but in bogy papers are seen bursts full of orange-colored substance, accompanied by a greenish scum on the water, which the state geologist says is a ferruginous deposit. The water tests of ability of iron, and colors the gravel black where it flows. F. S.

Why Wichita booms in the spring, Tra La.

People wonder why Wichita booms. The simple reason is that it is advertised, and largely. The Eagle is always gratuitously advertising the town, and deserves great praise for the up-building of so grand a city, but that paper is not alone in its efforts.

The business of the city is a notable example we cite the fact of two of Wichita's real estate men, N. F. Neiderlander and G. W. Bartholomew, have each a full page advertisement in last Sunday morning's Eagle, for which they had to pay, each more than any business man of Keweenaw for a year's advertising in the Republican.

They make money out of it and held build up the city. They believe in booming and boom.—Eureka Republican.

A gentleman in Kingman who is in a position to be posted, writes us not to be alarmed about the construction of the Kingman, Pratt & Western this summer, and says the road will surely be built. He says the only question has been whether the Santa Fe, the Frisco or the Wichita and Western should build it, and as soon as the money was determined the work of construction would be commenced.—Pratt Press.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS.

The following are the real estate transfers recorded in the office of register of deeds:

C. A. Walker to B. F.
